There are no translations available.

Support for the development of inland aquaculture

- Objective
- Strategy

Objective

To support the development of inland aquaculture in PICTs, particularly in Melanesia, by providing techn

Strategy

Aquaculture presents many opportunities for economic and social development, with new activities being

The project will address constraints to sustainable development of aquaculture in four main areas, which

- Support for strategic policy development and planning for aquaculture at the national level, includi
- Development of technical solutions to aquaculture production constraints in the key areas of 'feed
- Development of more skilled Pacific Islander aquaculture specialists through training and supervis
- Establishment of a regional aquatic animal health programme that makes best use of limited resou

A clear plan is seen as important to guide development of the secto

Feed and seed are the universal requirements for aquaculture development. Skills a

While the concept of ‘subsistence aquaculture’ to provide food security for poor rural communities is attr

- back to the top -

For more information, please contact, Tim Pickering, Inland Aquaculture Specialist

This Program is funded by the Australian aid program

Outputs related to the project

News

- Survey for milkfish fry collection in the Arnavon Islands, Solomon Islands. SPC Fisheries Newsle
PDF Link (125kb)

- Training on milkfish capture-based aquaculture in Fiji. SPC Fisheries Newsletter 137:2-4.
PDF Link (475kb)

- Public-private partnerships are paying off in PNG inland aquaculture. SPC Fisheries Newsletter 1
PDF Link (438kb)

- A successful first milkfish harvest in Fiji. SPC Fisheries Newsletter 133:23.
PDF Link (142kb)

- Fiji launches milkfish aquaculture project for food security. SPC Fisheries Newsletter 132:20-21.
PDF Link (248kb)

- Freshwater prawn research breakthrough at USP. SPC Fisheries Newsletter 131:19-20. PDF Link (105kb)

- Tilapia fish farming in the Pacific - A responsible way forward. SPC Fisheries Newsletter 130:24-2 PDF Link (106kb)

- Building capacity for Solomon Islands in freshwater aquaculture. SPC Fisheries Newsletter 127:1 PDF Link (105kb)